

Football Is in the Air

(28 Aug 1941)

Page 13

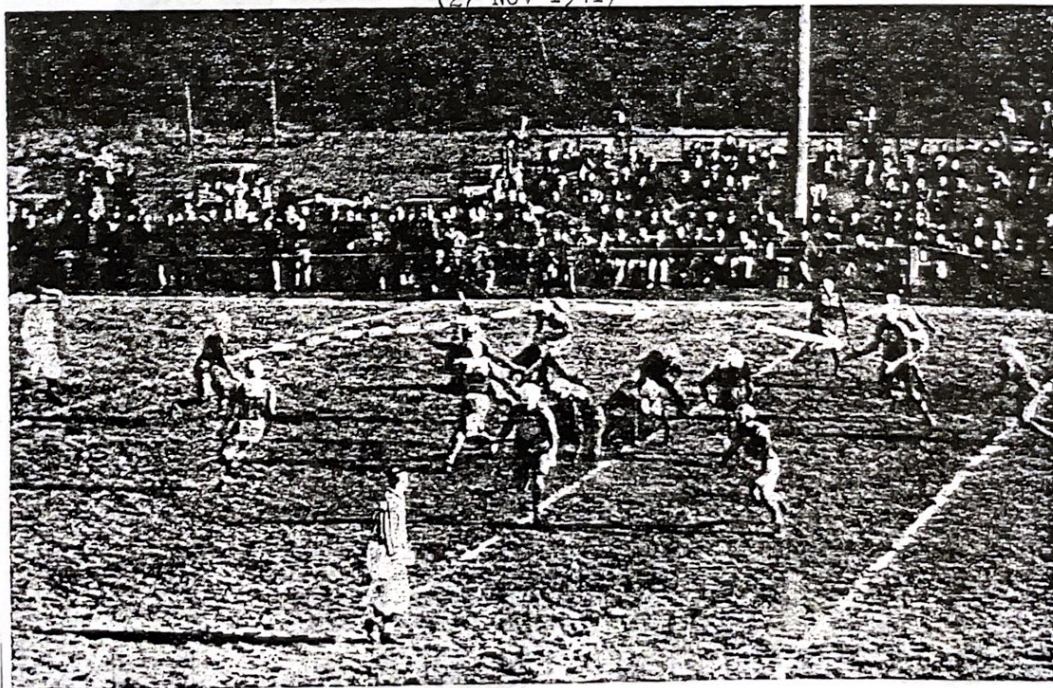

Bright and early Tuesday morning Camas Papermakers football hopefuls showed up at the high school to check out their equipment for the first turnout that afternoon. Here Coach Verdel Ragsdale ("Rags" for short) helps Oral Wilson with his shoulder pads, while John Reynolds, left, tries on one of the new white helmets. Warren Collins, in the background, fits a helmet on Wilson. Gordon Robertson, right, is waiting his turn. (Post-Record photo by Wallace Vail).

THE POST-RECORD, CAMAS AND WASHOUGAL, WASHINGTON

One of the Passes That Fooled Vancouver

(27 NOV 1941)

Good for seven yards was this pass from Gene Pelligrone to Don Rainey, Camas end (Dotted line follows the ball, arrows show where it traveled into Rainey's outstretched arms). Notice the two decoys—in the foreground, running toward the referee is John Reynolds (No. 32), while at the other end is Dale Stoller (No. 42), each drawing a Vancouver man out of the play leaving only the safety man to cover Rainey. (Post-Record photo by Wallace Vail).

Figure 3